Tenzing on the Summit

An extremely rare photo from the Royal Geographic Society, this print—signed by Sir Edmund Hillary himself—commemorates the historic 1953 first ascent of Everest. Recently accessed from the original negatives, a few limited edition prints were finished by hand to the highest standards. So impressed by the quality of the images, Hillary agreed to sign exactly ten editions of the museum quality piece. Numbered, with a certificate of authenticity bearing the authorized seal of the Royal Geographical Society, it will be a prized addition to the home or office wall. One only.

#702014 $8,848.00

Girls Gone Skiing Poster

A classic display of girl power, this vintage shot captures a wonderful moment in time. Taken July 4th, 1942 at Mt Lassen it evokes the timeless feel of girls skiing together

#702077 $19.95

Alex Lowe/Conrad Anker Poster

Originally issued by the North Face, this Krakauer photo of the pair in Antarctica is being re-released to benefit the Alex Lowe Charitable Foundation. Fifty percent of the proceeds will be donated to benefit people who inhabit the remotest regions of the world. This limited edition is signed by Conrad Anker.

#702028 $69.95

The Last Step – American Ascent of K2

A signed copy of Rick Ridgeway's tale of the harrowing American ascent of the world's second highest—and some say hardest—peak. From a personal perspective, the book details the struggles that the foursome encountered twenty-five years ago to accomplish their goal.

#444394 $21.95 (signed by author)

Masters of Rock CD

Already called a classic, these extended conversations with Sharma, Davis and Gill, hosted by Eric Horst, unveil the passion, personalities and secrets to the success of these modern rock masters.

Everest Bell – artist Jeff Clapp

These beautiful bells are crafted from oxygen canisters left behind by expeditions up Mt. Everest. Maine-based artist, Jeff Clapp, hand-turned these canisters into handsome bells that resonate with a powerful sound and a compelling story. Each bell comes with documentation of Jeff's trip to the Himalaya to recover these canisters. By turning piles of climber trash into a ready raw material Jeff has created pure beauty out of thin air. Bell chamber measures 12" long X 5" diameter. Hanger is 5".

#205232 $1,995.00

Bells from Everest Ornaments

These Christmas ornaments ring true with any climber that cares about the plight of the world's highest peak. Hand-lathed from Everest's spent oxygen canisters, they are a festive addition to any tree and support a laudable effort to clean a very special place.

#640812 $379.95

Weeble Boards

Used in pairs, these small disks build strength and balance for both the upper and lower body. Independent action and 18-degree angles make them a challenging addition to the standard set of squats, wall sits or push-ups.

#640724 $49.95 /pair

Wobble Board

Find your center while strengthening ankles and building balance for those double blacks with this challenging 16-inch disk. Supported only in the center, its three angles force muscles to work when standing on two legs or balancing precariously on one..

#640728 $59.95

The Grimper II – Asana Packworks

Ready, set, crimp. This mano-a-mano challenge is the perfect diversion to pull out when lazing around the coffee table or spouting off at the bar. The 12-inch plastic game comes with a variety of Enterprises screw-on holds.

#640737 $29.95

Bongo Board

This super fun balance board spices up the mind-numbing off-season routine with a solid supply of fun. The 32-inch deck sits atop a multi-rotational polyurethane wheel that rolls both fast and smooth on surfaces as different as dorm room carpet and gear room concrete.

#640729 $89.95

Powerball

Mastering the powerball's centrifugal force challenges personal dexterity and digital strength, but with practice this hand trainer brightens up with LED lights and really hums. Based on gyroscopic forces, it is a fun substitute for the squeeze and release routine.

Myo XP —by Petzl

As if the high-powered single LED wasn't enough, this light adds a flip up lens to flood the immediate area and offers push-button Boost Mode, which cranks up wattage for 20 crucial seconds. Three lighting levels and a low-life indicator work together to balance brightness with conservation, while a tiltable body shines the focused beam where it's needed most.

•Wt 5.6oz w/3 AA batteries (included) •Up to 170 hr burn time

Nuptse Jacket —by The North Face
High loft makes this down parka a nice piece for day tours, quick-hit trips or cold and clear nights in town. 700-fill down warms the chilled core, Velcro cuffs keep arms down and doubled shoulders withstand pack-strap wear. The whole piece self-stuffs into an internal pocket and the men's hides a basic taffeta hood for braving brief bouts of nasty weather.

•Wt 24oz. •700-fill down •2-ripstop nylon fabric •Zip-in-to-TNF compatibility •Self-stowable •Emergency taffeta hood (men's)

Women's: XS-XL Kyoto Plum, Sweet Berry, Black #202233 $198.95

Phantom Jacket & Vest —by Mountain Hardwear
The minimal weight and maximal warmth of these pieces tailor them to ounce-conscious skiers and climbers. 15D shell fabric, 800-fill down and laminated detailing shave weight, while box-quilt construction keeps it lofty on overnights. Fleece-lined pockets and one-handed cords trim it for backcountry convenience. The Women's styles it up a degree with a beautiful diamond quilt and the vest—at only 12 ounces—is a perfect quick-draw pick for the über-light day-tour kit.

•Wt 16oz. (jacket) 12oz. (vest) •800-fill down •Superlight 15D shell •Laminated front zip and cuff tabs •Chamois-lined collar •Diamond quilt (women's)

Sub-Zero Jacket & Vest—by Mountain Hardwear
Versatility is what has earned the Sub Zeros a favorable five-star efficiency rating. Stuffed with 650-fill down and shelled with reinforced ripstop fabric, they warm up everything from cold snow-cave camps to walks around town. Fleece-lined pockets and elastic cuffs simplify use on winter trips, while waterproof stuff sacks keep them dry when packed.

•Wt 27oz. (jacket) 17oz. (vest) •650-fill down •2-rip shell •Taslan reinforcement •Stuff sack included
